Ram Samocha:

Act & Talk – Drawing Performance Conversation

Sat 13 May 2018. A one-hour drawing performance conversation with artist Ram Samocha. The meeting started with two live drawing sessions with visual & sound interaction between the artist and the audience. It continued with a conversation and reflection on the collaborative drawing actions, and ended up in a talk about the interaction between drawing, performance, and sound.

Ram Samocha is an artist and curator, presently residing in Brighton, UK. In his multidisciplinary work, Samocha combines drawing with video, installation and performance. Samocha is the founder of Draw to Perform, an international organization for artists and theorists involved in drawing performance. Since 2013 Draw to Perform organized international symposiums, worked with and support emerging and established artists, collaborations with art institutions, and run educational residencies and workshops.
